MagMax Story

A highly civilized group of aliens has conquered the earth and put the human beings under the control of the Computer Babylon which has begun to kill the human beings. In order to stop the aliens, the people developed a transformable mechanical robot named MagMax. They also chose a brave man for their rescue. The brave man is about to depart to the ultimate battle with the aliens in order to save the human race.

MagMax is an action game fought with a transforming robot. The player can transform himself into a robot, increasing his power as he builds the robot to fight against more than 30 different enemies. Now get ready for the ultimate battle against the gigantic mechanical monster Babylon.

How to Play

You control MagMax, the player. MagMax begins as a body part, but as you assemble all four parts, the robot gains power and begins to attack his enemies with his beam gun. Guide MagMax through four locations: forest, desert, sea and automated city. With the Warp Hall, you can also move between the surface and underground. After you complete the battle in the desert and the automated city, you will have to confront Babylon, the gigantic mechanical robot.

- Control MagMax with Button  .
Attack the chasing enemies and other objects with energy beam by pushing Button A or B.
- Move up and down between the surface and underground through the
- When you put MagMax's head  and legs  on, he becomes a robot.
Each additional body part increases the number of bullets he can shoot.

When MagMax is touched by the enemy, enemy's bullet, and/or obstacles, one turn is over. However, when the player has already attached MagMax's parts and touches one of these objects, the parts will separate and explode, but MagMax will survive. When all MagMaxes explode, the game is over.
